

Sleep has become elusive.

It's 2 a.m. . . . 3 a.m. . . . 4 a.m.

I'm not alone.

There is a whole village of us—women about my age—wakeful through the night.

You can see our yellow lights shining.

Together, we are a sisterhood of sleeplessness.

